

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates. The cable ownership cap is a crucial element of our democratic media, and it should not be weakened.

All we have to do is look at Enron to see that bigger ain't better. Leave cable control in as many hands as possible, i.e. small companies if there is such a thing any more.
